COMPLETE AGREE- MENT ON NAVAL ARMS LIMITATION

WILL BE CHRISTMAS PRESENT
CONFERENCE WILL PRESENT TO THE WORLD

(By United Press.)
Washington, Dec. 14.—The arms conference's big Christmas gift to the world will be a complete agreement on America's great program for limitation of naval armament, it was predicted today.

Japan, although accepting the Hughes capital ship ratio, is seeking to retain the Mutsu, most powerful battleship afloat. This, it was said, will make necessary a realignment of the settlement of the three powers.

In the senate it was reliably reported that William F. McAdoo was participating in the fight against the peace treaty, but ratification seems certain.

Complete Agreement Near

Washington, Dec. 14.—The "Big Three" delegates of the arms conference are rapidly approaching an agreement on the question of limitation of naval armament, it was learned today.

A re-alignment of the ratio of capital ships of the three powers after the Hughes program goes into effect so that Japan may keep the mighty Mutsu, is now under consideration.

It is believed that a complete agreement on the naval question will be announced at a plenary session before the end of this week, one of the American delegates said.

It is understood already that there is an understanding between the "Big Three"—Hughes, Balfour and Kato—for a settlement of the naval question, and in some authoritative quarters it was predicted an agreement would be definitely reached at another meeting of these three statesmen today.

This general understanding is believed to involve:

1. A definite agreement among the three powers on the capital ship ratio.

2. A re-alignment of the capital ships of the three powers on the basis of this ratio so as to allow Japan to retain her newest superdreadnaught, if this can be done without endangering the Hughes plan.

3. A modification of the ten year naval holiday of the Hughes proposals, which would meet the contentions of Great Britain and others that some warship construction must be carried on during this period so as to not disrupt present facilities for building, but on the condition that this does not defeat the fundamental principle of the Hughes program.

Viviani Believes Meeting Every Year

New York, Dec. 14.—Sailing for France today, Rene Viviani of the French Arms Conference delegation, declared he believed the international meeting such as the one now on at Washington would be held every year. Marshall Foch sailed with Viviani and their respective staffs on the liner Paris.

Hasten Naval Matters

Washington, Dec. 14.—Far eastern subjects, with the exception of the Shantung controversy, were shoved aside today to make possible the expediting of the settlement of limitation of naval armament questions.

A far eastern committee which includes members concerned in the naval solution, met only briefly and adjourned subject to the call of the chairman with the distinct understanding that this was so naval matters could be hastened.

Wilson Would Not Obstruct Disarmament

Washington, Dec. 14.—Woodrow Wilson wants democratic senators to do nothing which later would leave them open to the charge that they threw obstacles in the way of the complete success of the disarmament conference democratic senators have been informed.

He has not sent word to them of his opinion directly on the four-power Pacific treaty, but they have been informed that he feels the treaty should be considered in the light of the "sum total accomplishment" of the conference and should neither be condemned nor endorsed until it is clear what measure of disarmament the conference will bring about.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 14.—William F. McAdoo, son-in-law of former President Wilson, was charged today by Democratic senators with attempting to organize a Democratic fight on the four-power peace treaty.

McAdoo, it was reported, was largely responsible for the group of Wilson Democrats in the senate to remain silent about the treaty until Wilson's views concerning it could be obtained. Regardless of what certain of the Democrats say, ratification of the treaty now appears certain. Republican opposition, so far, has been weak, and assurances have been received of some Democratic support.

A representative of McAdoo, it was stated, called on leading Democratic senators at the capitol yesterday. The senators denied it.

McAdoo Silent

San Francisco, Dec. 14.—Claiming that he had no opportunity to study the quadruple agreement signed yesterday at Washington for peace on the Pacific, William C. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury today refused to discuss either its provisions or the question of politics.

"I don't know anything about politics," he declared.

McAdoo arrived here yesterday from Los Angeles on "private legal business."

"I favor strongly the principle of disarmament," he declared, "and I could be glad to see a partial reduction of arms if the United States were guaranteed ample protection."

"An agreement between a few nations is an alliance of theirs against all other powers, designed to protect their own interests against all nations," he added.

"The alliance might prove dangerous, but I have not studied the provisions." "I am in favor of the league of Nations."

THORP LECTURES ON PRES. LINCOLN

Noted Portrait Painter Enjoying International Reputation Gives His Reminiscences

AUSPICES OF LIONS CLUB

Col. Thorp Spoke to Attentive Audience at the First Methodist Church Tuesday Evening

Col. Freeman Thorp of Hubert, a portrait painter of international reputation, who has been intimately acquainted with all the presidents from Lincoln to Harding, painting all their portraits, spoke on Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Lions club and gave his personal reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln, whom he sketched when he delivered the address at Gettysburg, and from which sketches he later painted his remarkable portrait of the emancipator.

In the church was placed Col. Thorp's portraits of General Grant and President Lincoln, the latter being a duplicate of the one hanging in the capitol at Washington, D. C. These were hung in the afternoon and were given the proper light for public exhibition.

Col. Thorp began his address by explaining how he came to know Lincoln personally and what is more important, how he came to know so much about him.

He met and sketched Lincoln when he was on his way to be inaugurated when he went into the army as a cavalry soldier, and in November 1869 took a furlough and went to Washington, meeting Lincoln again. Col. Thorp went to Gettysburg and sketched him again when Lincoln made what is known the world over as his Gettysburg address, which Col. Thorp repeated from memory.

He also repeated from memory Lincoln's little speech at Geneva, Ohio, February 15th when Col. Thorp sketched the martyr president again. Lincoln's little speech was never published, but is in a way a perfect little gem, expressing the deepest thought in most condensed form.

Col. Thorp told about the senate erecting a studio for him on the roof of the senate wing of the capitol at Washington and the senate admitting him to the floor of the senate while the house extended him the same courtesy for twenty years so as to enable him to meet the eminent men of senate and house who had been closely associated with Lincoln during the civil war and to get from them their impressions of Lincoln and what they knew about him. This way Col. Thorp got from each his knowledge and observations of Lincoln and thus his aggregate knowledge of Lincoln as he actually was when president may be deemed greater and more accurate than of any other man.

Then Col. Thorp to disillusion his hearers of ideas about Lincoln from what they had read told what Lincoln was and gave a vivid description of what he actually was and in what his greatness consisted, giving much that is new about him and giving his hearers a new, higher and grander conception of Lincoln than many had hitherto had.

Col. Thorp, who is 77 years old, bears his age well. Active, vital interest in the affairs of the day, and fully conversant with the most important movements in history, in many of which he himself was a part, his lecture and delivery stirred the hearts of his hearers.

Col. Thorp showed the sketches he had made of Lincoln at Gettysburg and at Geneva. He gave Lincoln's ideas on agriculture, that the water supply should in a measure be conserved and not lained directly from highland to lowland or it would carry with it essentials for soil upbuilding.

Lincoln was a man of fine appearance, of athletic build, who walked gracefully and never slouched as some of the cartoonists pictured him.

During his whole administration, while he carried a weight of responsibility and cares, he never once was able to take vacation.

His story telling was done to relieve the strain to which he was constantly subjected. By being able to laugh heartily and to have others laugh with him at some witticism, Lincoln was able to relieve his mind from cares of a state for the moment.

Lincoln was a religious man. He prayed to God and sought His guidance.

OPEN SESSION OF DAIL TO-MORROW MORNING

"The Irish peace delegates at London exceeded their instructions," De Valera charged.

Michael Collins, leader of the Sinn Fein delegation who signed the peace pact leaped to the floor and cried, "Some men call me traitor! I will meet them any time, anywhere, now as in the past."

The Dail decided to hold a public session at 11 a. m., tomorrow to discuss the treaty openly. The decision was reached after it had been agreed to hold a preliminary secret meeting this morning.

London, Dec. 14.—The peace treaty between Great Britain and Ireland has received the most enthusiastic welcome of any agreement ever reached between the two people, Premier Lloyd George told parliament today.

The premier addressed the special session called to ratify the treaty. The text of King George's speech, presenting the treaty at the opening of parliament, follows:

"My Lords and members of the House of Commons:

"I have summoned you at this unusual time in order that the articles of the agreement which have been signed by my ministers and the Irish delegation may at once be submitted for your approval.

No other business will be brought before you at the present session. It was with heartfelt joy that I learned of the agreement reached after negotiations pending for several months, and affecting the welfare not only of Ireland, but of the British and Irish races throughout the world. It is my earnest hope that by the articles now submitted to you, the strife of centuries may be ended, and Ireland as a free party in the common wealth of the nations, from which the British Empire will secure fulfillment of her nation's ideals."

Washington, Dec. 14.—The Great Northern Railway company today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue $30,000,000 worth of general gold mortgage bonds. The bonds will be sold prior to March 1, 1922, to a bank syndicate.

The railroad stated that $15,000,000 of the money raised would be paid to the government for a loan; $2,500,000 would be used in paying off a first mortgage held by the Minneapolis Union Railway, which matured June 1, 1921; and $5,000,000 to purchase additional rolling stock, and the balance to be used in betterment of the railroad company. The bonds will mature not later than 1952.

PICTURE BRIDE SECURES $1,500 DAMAGE

(By United Press.)

St. Cloud, Dec. 14.—Rosa Graser came from Germany to find her picture husband much older and more of a father than advertised. A jury in the district court here gave her $1,500 compensation award for her disappointment.

Miss Graser left her home at Leipzig and came to America to marry a "young and handsome widower with three children." When she came, she found Joseph Baumgartner, a farmer living near Albany, was 23 years older than advertised, and had eight children instead of three. He had sent her an old picture depicting him as a young man, she said. Her disappointment was so great she sought $5,000 damages.

Lincoln was a man of fine appearance, of athletic build, who walked gracefully and never slouched as some of the cartoonists pictured him.

During his whole administration, while he carried a weight of responsibility and cares, he never once was able to take vacation.

His story telling was done to relieve the strain to which he was constantly subjected. By being able to laugh heartily and to have others laugh with him at some witticism, Lincoln was able to relieve his mind from cares of a state for the moment.

Lincoln was a religious man. He prayed to God and sought His guidance.

THORP LECTURES ON PRES. LINCOLN

Noted Portrait Painter Enjoying International Reputation Gives His Reminiscences

AUSPICES OF LIONS CLUB

Col. Thorp Spoke to Attentive Audience at the First Methodist Church Tuesday Evening

(By United Press.)
Col. Freeman Thorp of Hubert, a portrait painter of international reputation, who has been intimately acquainted with all the presidents from Lincoln to Harding, painting all their portraits, spoke on Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church under the auspices of the Lions club and gave his personal reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln, whom he sketched when he delivered the address at Gettysburg, and from which sketches he later painted his remarkable portrait of the emancipator.

In the church was placed Col. Thorp's portraits of General Grant and President Lincoln, the latter being a duplicate of the one hanging in the capitol at Washington, D. C. These were hung in the afternoon and were given the proper light for public exhibition.

Col. Thorp began his address by explaining how he came to know Lincoln personally and what is more important, how he came to know so much about him.

He met and sketched Lincoln when he was on his way to be inaugurated, then went into the army as a cavalry soldier, and in November 1869 took a furlough and went to Washington, meeting Lincoln again. Col. Thorp went to Gettysburg and sketched him again when Lincoln made what is known the world over as his Gettysburg address, which Col. Thorp repeated from memory.

He also repeated from memory Lincoln's little speech at Geneva, Ohio, February 15th when Col. Thorp sketched the martyr president again. Lincoln's little speech was never published, but is in a way a perfect little gem, expressing the deepest thought in most condensed form.

Col. Thorp told about the senate erecting a studio for him on the roof of the senate wing of the capitol at Washington and the senate admitting him to the floor of the senate while the house extended him the same courtesy for twenty years so as to enable him to meet the eminent men of senate and house who had been closely associated with Lincoln during the civil war and to get from them their impressions of Lincoln and what they knew about him.

This way Col. Thorp got from each his knowledge and observations of Lincoln and thus his aggregate knowledge of Lincoln as he actually was when president may be deemed greater and more accurate than of any other man.

Then Col. Thorp to disillusion his hearers of ideas about Lincoln from what they had read told what Lincoln was and gave a vivid description of what he actually was and in what his greatness consisted, giving much that is new about him and giving his hearers a new, higher and grander conception of Lincoln than many had hitherto had.

Col. Thorp, who is 77 years old, bears his age well. Active, vital, interested in the affairs of the day, and fully conversant with the most important movements in history, in many of which he himself was a part, his lecture and delivery stirred the hearts of his hearers.

Col. Thorp showed the sketches he had made of Lincoln at Gettysburg and at Geneva. He gave Lincoln's ideas on agriculture, that the water supply should in a measure be conserved and not lained directly from highland to lowland or it would carry with it essentials for soil upbuilding.

Lincoln was a man of fine appearance, of athletic build, who walked gracefully and never slouched as some of the cartoonists pictured him.

During his whole administration, while he carried a weight of responsibility and cares, he never once was able to take vacation.

His story telling was done to relieve the strain to which he was constantly subjected. By being able to laugh heartily and to have others laugh with him at some witticism, Lincoln was able to relieve his mind from cares of a state for the moment.

Father-in-Law of Harry Patek Died in Minneapolis, Was Prominent Scientist, Professor

Dr. Henry Turner Eddy, member of the University of Minnesota faculty 18 years, prominent scientist and professor, died at his home in Minneapolis. He was the father-in-law of Harry Patek, former Brainerd resident. Dr. Eddy was known to many Brainerd people, having for years past spent his summers at Hubert.

Private funeral services were conducted Tuesday. The body was cremated at Lakewood cemetery and memorial services are to be conducted Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational church.

The death of Dr. Eddy, who was 77 years old and dean emeritus of the university, came after only a few days illness. He suffered from heart disease and an acute attack of pneumonia. He is survived by four daughters and a son, Mrs. Eddy having died about three months ago. The survivors are Horace T. Eddy of Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. Olive Hastings, Atchinson, Kan.; Mrs. J. B. Frear, Buffalo, N. Y.; and Mrs. Charles F. Keyes and Mrs. Charles H. Patek of Minneapolis.

Dr. Eddy, who was recognized as one of the foremost men of science in the United States, was born at Stoughton, Mass., June 9, 1844, a direct descendant of the colonial Americans. His great grandfather was Charles Eddy who settled in Glastonbury, Conn., in 1737. Henry Eddy, his father, was a member of the Yale class of 1832, and his mother, Sarah Hayward Eddy, was a graduate and teacher of mathematics at Mt. Holyoke seminary. After taking a preparatory course at an academy at Brocton, Mass., Dr. Eddy entered Yale in 1859.

ANOTHER BRAINERD CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Brainerd Folks

Just another report of a case in Brainerd. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Brainerd with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Hans Anderson, 502 Norwood St., says: "I caught a cold while at work and my back started aching. I noticed it first when I stooped to shovel some coal. I got such a sharp catch in my back and thought I had been hit. From then on I had a steady ache and pains in my back and I felt sore and stiff in the morning. My kidneys acted unnaturally and between all these symptoms I was feeling pretty badly. I tired easily and was usually in before the day was over. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Dunn's Drug Store and after using them a short time I was rid of these pains and the kidney disorder."

NO DANGER OF LEAGUE

Now that the four-power association of nations has been provided for in the treaty presented to the session of the Armament Conference on Saturday, and another association of nine Pacific powers by treaty is practically agreed upon, there is renewed discussion in Washington of President Harding's suggestion of a permanent association of nations. The plan, it is said, finds relatively insignificant opposition in the United States Senate. This opposition is confined almost entirely to the group of "irreconcilables," who oppose any foreign alliance of any kind because, they assert, it may eventually result in affiliation with the present League of Nations, or in the organization of a similar association. There is really no occasion to fear that President Harding's suggestion for an association of nations may have some connection with the discredited League of Nations. The name alone doesn't always signify. The attacks made upon the League of Nations cov-nant were directed at the substance thereof and not against the title. It must be remembered that Mr. Harding, at that time Senator, voted against ratification of the Wilson League, and he has since freely expressed his opposition to the principles contained in that document. There is no danger of this country becoming tied up in the League of Nations or any similar organization during President Harding's administration. There was never any real kindling of national spirit in the influence of the League of Nations upon the mind of the world. It was usually considered too complicated ever to be understood. No one was thrilled at contemplating its suggested workings; it offered a covenant which promised relief from some dangers through the erection of others at least equally formidable. Those who favored it had to be on the defensive from the start. Defense was required everywhere; inspiration could be found nowhere.

AGRICULTURAL TRANSPORTATION

It is expected that the transportation program of the American Farm Bureau Federation, drafted by Minnesota men, will be pressed "to the limit." This program calls for the repeal or drastic modification of the Adamson law, repeal of the provisions of the Esch-Cummins act permitting railroad rates high enough to give the carriers a fixed return on their valuation, and sweeping cuts in railroad rates. Plans for extending Minnesota cooperative marketing corporations to the point where they will have practically absolute control of the marketing of farm crops will be included in the 1922 agricultural program of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation to be placed before the Federation's annual meeting at the University Farm, Jan. 3, 4 and 5.

AGING EX-SERVICE MEN

The United States Veterans' Bureau says "the cleanup campaign recently conducted throughout the country by the bureau unearthed thousands of cases of service men who were unaware of the benefits to which they were entitled by law." In exact numbers, 69,125 such cases were found and, as a result, the men, or their dependents, have been given whatever relief the law entitled them to. Besides unearthing this number of ex-service men who were really entitled to relief, the campaign also ferreted out a number of cases where fraudulent claims were being "put over" on the government. These cases were summarily dealt with as soon as they were discovered.

If the action fails to flow smoothly, if the scene clogs or looks stagey and the extra people do not seem to fit into their niches—

Perhaps the tempo is lacking. Tempo is a phase of motion picture production that is coming to be studied and understood by intelligent directors and performers. And it means exactly the same in the motion picture sense as it does in a musical production.

Tempo was supplied in the scenes in "The Plaything of Broadway," which shows at the Lyceum tonight and Thursday, starring Miss Justine Johnstone, by a full orchestra. In several of the scenes the orchestra appears

NO RIGHT TO PICKET

In an opinion rendered a few days ago, the United States Supreme Court declared that organized labor has no right to picket during a strike when it involves importunity. The court in its decision says no broad rule can be laid down in the matter of picketing, however, but that each case must be considered on its merits to determine whether the picketing constituted restraint and intimidation. The decision was delivered in an appeal brought by the American Steel Foundries Company growing out of strike at its plant at Granite City, Ill.

COMODILLA CIGAR

Men:-

Here's the "home cigar." No woman ever objected to the fragrant sweetness of a Comodilla in her home. And this is why: Every Comodilla is filled with an aromatic blend of mellow old Vuelta Havana tobacco that has been "aged" for years, like wine. This ageing makes it richly mild and sweet. Smoothly covered with a costly Java wrapper, a Comodilla satisfies your clear Havana taste without leaving any "heavy" feeling. Learn to say "Comodilla." Say it at the next cigar counter. Light, puff and smile!

NO RIGHT TO PICKET

In an opinion rendered a few days ago, the United States Supreme Court declared that organized labor has no right to picket during a strike when it involves importunity. The court in its decision says no broad rule can be laid down in the matter of picketing, however, but that each case must be considered on its merits to determine whether the picketing constituted restraint and intimidation. The decision was delivered in an appeal brought by the American Steel Foundries Company growing out of strike at its plant at Granite City, Ill.

COMODILLA CIGAR

Union Made

Men:-

Here's the "home cigar." No woman ever objected to the fragrant sweetness of a Comodilla in her home. And this is why: Every Comodilla is filled with an aromatic blend of mellow old Vuelta Havana tobacco that has been "aged" for years, like wine. This ageing makes it richly mild and sweet. Smoothly covered with a costly Java wrapper, a Comodilla satisfies your clear Havana taste without leaving any "heavy" feeling. Learn to say "Comodilla." Say it at the next cigar counter. Light, puff and smile!

HOBART M. CABLE PIANO for Christmas

This Year You Can Buy One for $485

Christmas is the occasion on which many people plan to add a PIANO to their household possessions, thereby adding music to their lives and the art of playing it to their accomplishments. And those who buy early are well rewarded. They find larger stocks to select from—a wider variety of styles and case finishes. They also get an opportunity to have the Piano voiced to their individual liking in our Piano shops.

Economy and musical excellence both point the careful buyer toward the Hobart M. Cable Piano this year. While far from the lowest priced Piano obtainable, its present greatly reduced price of $485, coupled with its excellence of tone, and its great durability, make it a most attractive value.

Was Appointed by Mass Meeting at

PLANS NOT FULLY DEFINED

Mr. Babcock is Doing His Utmost to Do
Justice to Every Deserving Community

The committee appointed by the mass meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce some few weeks ago secured an appointment with C. M. Babcock, Commissioner of Highways, and had a conference with him Tuesday. This was in the interest of south Sixth and West Laurel streets through which State Highways No. 27 and No. 2 pass.

Mr. Babcock's plans for 1932 are not fully defined and no definite reply can be given as yet. However, he made some suggestions to the committee which they shall present to the city council and which may help solve the difficulty.

The committee was convinced that Mr. Babcock had many limitations relative to the program he desired to follow but that he was doing his utmost to do justice to every community.

The midweek prayer meeting of the First Baptist church will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. We are reading and studying together the Gospel of John. The lesson for tomorrow evening will be John 6 Chapter 14 to the end. The pastor will lead.

WHERE SANTA GETS HIS TOYS

Toyland at "Michael's" is just brimful of marvelous toys and fascinating games for tiny tots, and they no to tiny, too. The advance agents of old Santa Claus have brought stacks and stacks of things to gladden the hearts of little boys and girls. The woolly dogs and the cunning bunnies, the tall giraffes and slouching elephants, all are there, waiting to welcome their little visitors. Animal toys are favorites, always, and you find them in all styles and sizes at this store.

Oh, You Beautiful Doll!

And the dolls! They are so lovely that little arms just ache to hold them! There are baby dolls that talk to you, and sleepily close their eyes; great, beautiful dolls with curly hair, raggedy dolls with crooked smiles—all dressed up, and some place to go, too.

Though the doll is the most popular plaything for little girls, they show a keen interest in others, also. Little sewing sets are just the thing for the tiny mothers, for by encouraging and helping a little girl to make doll's clothes, she can be taught sewing more easily than in any other way. And what happiness a little's laundry set will bring, with its zinc tub, real wringer, wash board with glass inset, clothes reel or clothes line, and even a little bag of clothes.

Sweeney Says:

pins and a real wicker basket! With an ironing board and tiny flat iron, the miniature laundry is complete.

"Here, Little Plates for Little Pies, with board and rolling pin agree. There, shining tins of proper size when two alone are company." For the little housekeeper there are the cunningest little china tea sets, a cooking sets of aluminum, and rolling pins and pastry boards for fashioning tiny pies. And best of all, real electric stoves are here, with two burners and an oven, 'n' everything! What joy to be able to make little cakes and cookies on a real stove, just like mother's!

Period Furniture

Well, no. Rather "exclamations" furniture, for many exclamations of delight are heard as the children view the very complete sets of dining room, living room and kitchen furniture shown. Even cedar chests are shown, in which may be stored all of dolly's dainty wardrobe. Then there are rubber tired doll carriages and go-carts, and doll beds, where the lovely lady dolls may take their "beauty naps," while their little mistresses are writing "thank you" letters at desks of comfortable size, with chairs to match.

Little Boy Blue

can blow his horn, and beat his drum, for there are all kinds of horns and drums here for him. Boys like toy musical instruments, not because they have such a strong musical sense, but just because they love the noise. And red is their favorite shade—because it is the showiest. Paints always please boys, because they are so vivid. With them a boy can color his cigar-box train and the little toys he can make out of wood. With a Gilbert Designer and Toy Builder, on sale at Michael's Toy Shop, many useful and entertaining toys may be fashioned by little boys, from designs of their own choosing.

Worth-while Toys

From the house of A. C. Gilbert come many other fascinating outfits for boys. Magnetic Fun and Facts is interesting and instructing. The first chapter in the accompanying booklet called "A Sea Fog," will be read with breathless interest by every boy who is lucky enough to get one of these sets. Of equal interest is the Tele-Set, an actual working telegraph outfit, with a Morse code chart. Then there is a Chemistry Outfit, with full instructions. The ink we write with, the soap we wash with, the food we eat, all are in some way or other interlinked with Chemistry. A simple but informing introduction has been written for the manual of instructions by Mr. G. I. bert.

Other Outfits are the Brick-tor, an architectural building outfit, the Erector, toylike structural steel, from which bridges, derricks, building frames and other structures may be made, a Soldering Outfit, with which boys can mend their own broken toys, and also provide "first aid" to mother when her favorite cooking utensil springs a leak! Puzzle Parties is the name of an other unique entertainer, and the Mutt & Jeff Joke Outfits are a scream, with their clever little tricks, such as the Sore Finger, Rubber Tacks, etc.

Tool chests for little craftsmen are built for sturdy use, and telephone sets always please. The Lawrence Twin Sky Lark is "A Bird of a Flyer." Made of aluminum, it is strong, speedy and durable. ### The Joys of Reading

As Miss Walsh, one of our Brainerd teachers, said in a recent article: "Nothing is more productive of joy and profound profit in later years than a trained judgment and love for reading. Reading should be begun as soon as a child begins to notice things." For the small child "Michael's" have selected some lovely animal books, with really fine illustrations, called "Animal Pets." Then there is that old classic, "Mother Goose," and other favorites for tiny tots. For the older child are the "Make-Believe" stories, all about the sawdust doll and the bold tin soldier. Older girls like the time-honored Dinsmore books, and newer ones by Meade, also Fairy Tales. Boys revel in Boy Scout books, and books of adventure. These, with books of history and travel and selections from standard authors, will surely enlarge the child's outlook, entertain him, and give him a keen desire for more extensive reading. Adv. 11

When this is adjusted by him the effect will disappear and with it the risk of severe illness. Chiropractic Vertebral adjustments have proved very efficacious in cases of throat trouble. ## PLANS NOT FULLY DEFINED

M. Babcock is Doing His Utmost to Do Justice to Every Deserving Community

The committee appointed by the mass meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce some few weeks ago secured an appointment with C. M. Babcock, Commissioner of Highways and had a conference with him Tuesday. This was in the interest of south Sixth and West Laurel streets through which State Highways No. 27 and No. 2 pass. Mr. Babcock's plans for 1922 are not fully defined and no definite reply can be given as yet. However, he made some suggestions to the committee which they shall present to the city council and which may help solve the difficulty.

The committee was convinced that Mr. Babcock had many limitations relative to the program he desired to follow but that he was doing his utmost to do justice to every community.

Midweek Prayer Service

The midweek prayer meeting of the First Baptist church will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. We are reading and studying together the Gospel of John. The lesson for tomorrow evening will be John 6 Chapter 14 to the end. The pastor will lead.

WHERE SANTA GETS HIS TOYS

Toyland at "Michael's" is just brimful of marvelous toys and fascinating games for tiny tots, and then, no to tiny, too. The advance agents of old Santa Claus have brought stacks and stacks of things to gladden the hearts of little boys and girls. The woolly dogs and the cunning bunnies, the tall giraffes and slouching elephants, all are there, waiting to welcome their little visitors. Animal toys are favorites, always, and you find them in all styles and sizes at this store.

Oh, You Beautiful Doll!

And the dolls! They are so lovely that little arms just ache to hold them! There are baby dolls that talk to you, and sleepily close their eyes; great, beautiful dolls with curly hair, raggedy dolls with crooked smiles—all dressed up, and some place to go, too.

Though the doll is the most popular plaything for little girls, they show a keen interest in others, also. Little sewing sets are just the thing for the tiny mothers, for by encouraging and helping a little girl to make doll's clothes, she can be taught sewing more easily than in any other way. And what happiness a little laundry set will bring, with its zinc tub, real wringer, wash board with glass inset, clothes reel or clothes line, and even a little bag of clothes.

pins and a real wicker basket! With an ironing board and tiny flat iron, the miniature laundry is complete. "Here, Little Plates for Little Pies, with board and rolling pin agree. There, shining tins of proper size when two alone are company." For the little housekeeper there are the cunningest little china tea sets, and cooking sets of aluminum, and rolling pins and pastry boards for fashioning tiny pies. And best of all, real electric stoves are here, with two burners and an oven, 'n' everything! What joy to be able to make little cakes and cookies on a real stove, just like mother's!

Period Furniture

Well, no. Rather "exclamations" furniture, for many exclamations of delight are heard as the children view the very complete sets of dining room, living room and kitchen furniture shown. Even cedar chests are shown, in which may be stored all of dolly's dainty wardrobe. Then there are rubber tired doll carriages and go-carts, and doll beds, where the lovely lady dolls may take their "beauty naps," while their little mistresses are writing "thank you" letters at desks of comfortable size, with chairs to match.
